

Call to Artist: Logo Design Contest

February 9 - March 9, 2017

Education Without Borders (EWB)

EWB at San Diego State University is a student organization that aims to support undocumented and other marginalized student populations. EWB at SDSU seeks to provide a support system for these student populations by fostering an environment that empowers them.

In an effort to foster a welcoming environment for undocumented students, EWB at SDSU is seeking to create a logo that will help undocumented students identify safe-zones on campus where they can find trained allies and staff that are knowledgeable on the needs of undocumented students.

EWB is calling for original designs that capture the concepts of migration-through the monarch butterfly, and diversity-through shades of people of color. Please keep in mind that this design will also be used in pins. The winning design will be selected by the executive board of EWB and will be awarded $50 dollars.

Please attach design as a vector graphic via email to ewb.sdsu@gmail.com with the following format:

Subject: Undocu Safe-Zone Submission

Body:

Last Name, First Name

Description of your design/concept (5-6 Sentences)

Thank You!

